Friday 31st March

Dear Parent/Carers,

As the term comes to a close I look back and feel the need to acknowledge the great achievements of our children. This term we have seen so many exciting things happening at Shacklewell with our children being very fortunate to have taken part in so many activities, projects and events.

Our children have gone deep into the woods and explored nature in our new Forest School initiative. Our dance troupe have sashayed their way to success in the Hackney Dance competition with a gold medal winning salsa routine. As always, as a community we dug deep for Red Nose Day and raised over £650 wearing red clothes, baking all things red and learning about the great work of Comic Relief. We celebrated our passion for reading this term when we dressed up for World Book Day and shared our favourite stories. The children also explored their learning throughout the term, in ways previously unimaginable because technology has become such a part of our everyday learning.

Like our sister schools, our pupils are incredibly lucky to have had so many inspiring and innovative activities and lessons. As well as their everyday reading, writing and mathematics lessons, the children have taken part in extra sports activities, school outings and visits to museums, cinemas, theatres and parks. I do hope that you have followed some of our stories through Twitter, the new school website and the weekly bulletin. We want you to share in as many of our experiences as possible and we try very hard to share these with you.

Please remember that the next edition of the school bulletin will be e-published only. We will post the newsletter on our Twitter page and will email it to those who have provided us with their email addresses. I would like to thank all of our amazing staff, who have shown such commitment and dedication to the school this term. The success of the school is a true testament to the enthusiasm and devotion of all of our staff. Have a fantastic and well deserved break and we all look forward to seeing you at 8.55am on Wednesday 19th April 2017 for the final and most exciting term of the school year.

Best wishes,

Nicole Reid
